ELMHURST ELMHURS COLLEGE

ELMHURST,

Elmhurst new students gathered during Freshmen Week for group singing and fellowship led by Bobbie Brodt.

A Week of Initiation Toward a College Education

A typical Freshmen Week at Elmhurst College began again in September, 1962. Traditionally, the week included a full schedule of events which provided orientation, relaxation, and fellowship for all the incoming students. Faculty advisors aided the new student in selecting a schedule, while student counselors initiated the newcomers to Elmhurst College living. Other events included an afternoon of games and fun at Wilder Park; an evening of group singing; and evenings of dancing. It was during this time that the group received their blue and white beanies and "E" Books both of which are constant companions of the students until Homecoming. The annual event sponsored by the Student Council gave new students an opportunity to meet Elmhurst.

This bird's eye view of the campus proves to be an interesting sight for the Elmhurst students in '63.

Elmhurst College is a small liberal arts school located in the center of the city of Elmhurst, Illinois. This year the campus consisted of fifteen buildings, but it will be expanded greatly within the next eight years. This spring construction was begun on a new student union building, which will stand at the main entrance of the college. Other future plans include a new fine arts building, a science building, a field house, and a new dorm to be completed in 1971.

The Decade of Development plans an aerial view of Elmhurst to look like this for the 1971 centennial.

This new science hall is just one of the buildings planned to be added during Decade of Development.

In 1971 Elmhurst also plans to have this new Fine Arts Building at the southeast corner of the campus.

Special dinners at Commons provide special entertainment. The Hawaiian dinner included native dancing.

Homecoming 1962-Broadway Show Theme

Weeks of planning and preparation by a combined student and faculty committee under the direction of Student Council were finally culminated in one short weekend, Homecoming, 1962. Activities began early in the week with float construction by dormitories and commuters. Following the assembling of the floats Friday afternoon, was a Homecoming show, both based on the theme Broadway. The original student theater production, "Pills From Paradise," told the story of a football team aided by angels and pep pills.

Hours of labor and imagination produce a winning float for the spirited commuters.

These weak football players hope to gain strength through miracle pills in this year's Homecoming theater production, "Pills From Paradise."

The 1962 court included Gail Humphreys, Janet Scott, Jane D'Isa, Jane Radspieler, Sandra Gloss, Karen Benson, Barb Mowchan, Donna Due, and Marty Uthlaut.

Decorations, Dance, Victory Mark the Weekend

Homecoming activities continued on Saturday with the game and dance. This year Elmhurst's team broke its Homecoming losing streak by winning the first game in fourteen years. The win was celebrated by a car cavalcade through town and display of the victory bell. Enthusiasm continued into the evening at the dance held at O'Hare Inn. At this time Queen, Karen Benson, and her court were presented to the student body and alumni. The weekend's activities came to a close with the Sunday morning service held in Hammerschmidt Chapel. All in all Homecoming, 1962, was enjoyed by students and alumni alike.

Guest speaker, Dr. Simmons, talks to the students on Russian writers.

A variety of programs are offered at Elmhurst College each year with majors in many fields. The science department provides majors in biology, chemistry, and pre-medical areas. Those planning to enter the teaching profession also find Elmhurst to have a fine program. One may chose a major in elementary education or in subjects such as English, history, foreign language, or mathematics for secondary teaching, plus majors in business administration or economics.

This student music recital features Elmhurst voice major, Carol Willie.

Special events throughout the year provide an opportunity for Elmhurst students to participate in activities that are of particular interest to them. Periodic recitals help the music students gain practice in their field, while such events as the science fair and art festival create extra areas of expression for students in these respective departments. These events, however, are not only for those in the field, but also for all students and faculty members on campus who have an interest.

Elmhurst's own version of Santa Clause sees that President Stanger receives his gift.

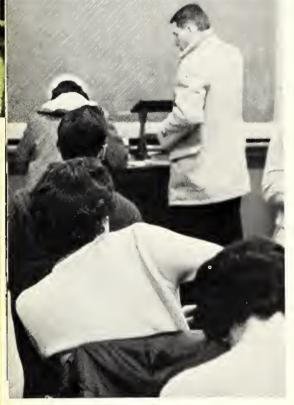

When the Christmas season comes, it comes in full force at Elmhurst. The weeks preceding the holiday vacation are filled with special events. The annual Choral Union presentation of the Messiah highlights the season. This is followed by the Student Union Christmas party, the Dinkmeyer party, a morning chapel service, and private parties with dorm friends.

Sharon Forke makes studying easier by carrying Tom Burke's books.

Book, Notes, Library and Late Hour-Exams

January and May might be ordinary months for most people but not for college students. At Elmhurst it means exams, and that usually means a change in schedule. Textbooks and notebooks become a students best friends, or at least it seems that way for they are never separated. However, at the same time sleep seems to lose out, for the longer one stays awake, the better the grade.

It might be late, but his eyes are still open, and tomorrows exam begins to look like a possible success.

Chapel service was not exactly normal when Mr. Gentry's Volkswagen was found on stage.

Elmhurst College's religious affiliation with the Evangelical and Reformed church lends to another spirit on campus. Wednesday morning chapel provides the weekly religious service, where students may chose to hear guest speakers or often members of our own faculty. On Monday morning an assembly is held where the emphasis is on academic and cultural aspects of our learning. Here again both guests of the school and faculty members are found speaking or performing in the dramatic or musical arts.

Miss Noretta Koertge is usually seen as a chemistry professor, but here she entertains with folk music.

Administration and faculty are presented at the opening convocation each semester.

Students were invited to participate in afternoon discussions such as this with special guest speakers.

Chapel and Discussion Add to Learning

Suburban Elmhurst is the Home of Our College

This aerial photo of downtown Elmhurst shows the shopping district only a few blocks from the campus.

Directly across the street from the college is the city park where this new museum was recently built.

Looking north on York Street, the center of the city of Elmhust, E. C. students see many familiar places.

Lounge Look--Lose Labor for Life of Leisure

Neibuhr Hall residents relax and find some time for evening television viewing.

Time out from study calls for a friendly game of cards with other dorm residents.

The commuters and dorm students alike use the lounge for an afternoon of chess or checkers.

Just to out do the ordinary fifty mile hikers of the nation, E. C. fellows go for fifty-one.

There always seems to be some fad that presents a challenge to the nation's college students. This year the fifty mile hike as proof of physical fitness was the trend. However, the Elmhurst men were not satisfied with the ordinary. They pushed themselves fifty-one miles. Naturally, not everyone who started the hike finished, but a few determined fellows did return, and were seen the following week with sore feet and a stiff, tired look.

To entertain the children, the E. C. clowns form a pyramid at the annual Women's Union Circus.

Circus Big Top Filled With Clowns Again

Each year the Women's Union of Elmhurst College sponsors a circus for the enjoyment of both the students and their guests. Traditionally, orphaned children are invited to the school and are adopted by students for the evening. To begin the fun, all are invited to participate in games of skill where prizes are awarded to successful players. After games the children and their temporary parents attend the Big Top. Like all circuses, it includes clowns, a ringmaster, and other entertainment. All of this provides a good time and an evening of laughter for everyone, but when the show is over the children must leave until next year.

Games and grins were part of the Women's Union Circus, entertaining kids, grownups.

Dormitory Life is Never Dull at Elmhurst

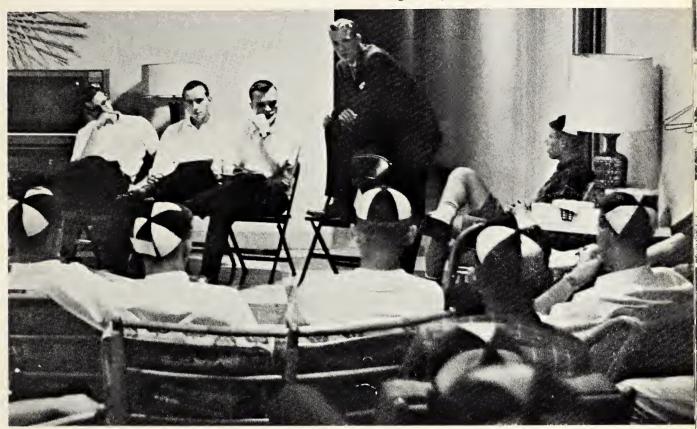

Lee Yunker and Rich Harbart have a late evening discussion in the dorm.

In Schick Hall the women use their lounge for a late meeting where they will plan the rules of their dorm.

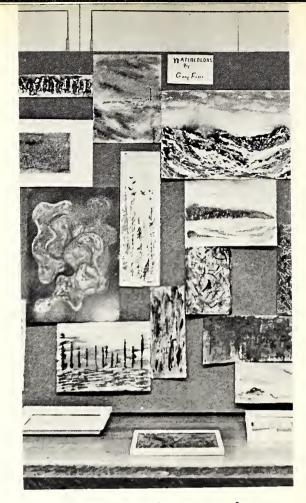

Head resident of Neibuhr Hall, Gordon Pederson, leads a meeting where freshmen are introduce to rules.

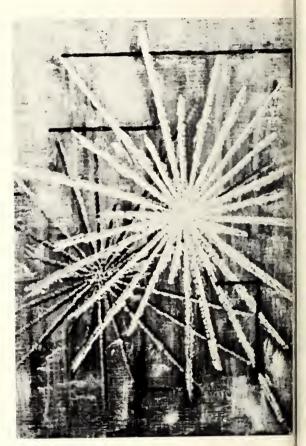

Living in a dormitory with one hundred students naturally requires rules, but these rules are usually both made and enforced by the students themselves. The two men's dorms, Neibuhr and Irion, and the three women's dorms, Shick, Dinkmeyer, and Lehman, all have a dorm president and council which govern the dorm. Each building also has it's own lounge and television room where students may relax and entertain guests. The dormitory is for living.

Are they art critics or just spectators? We don't know, but they seem to enjoy it.

Watercolors by Gary Fitts were a part of student display of talent.

An interesting painting by an Elmhurst student is unveiled at the fine arts festival.

Small Talk in the Language Lab

An addition to the college this year was the language lab. Under the direction of Dr. Wellington, Spanish professor, the lab was used weekly by all foreign language students. Through the aid of this new equipment, students could hear a language being spoken in a manner that they should make an effort to imitate. They could also record their own speech and discover the areas where improvement was needed. The new lab proved to be an added asset to the department.

Dr. Wellington demonstrates the language lab to President Stanger, Dr. Couchman, and Mr. McNair.

Steve Danko's semester in Washington included this group discussion in Attorney General Kennedy's office.

Elmhurst sent Steve Danko, senior, to Washington for his last semester.

Folk music and laughter filled the room at this year's special concert featuring the Limeliters.

Limeliters in Concert Delight E. C.

Featuring Lou Gottlieb on the bass, Alex Hassilev on the banjo, and Glenn Yarbrough on the guitar, the Limeliters were nationwide entertainers this year. Having them at Elmhurst for just one evening was a pleasure for all. The trio began their program with the rousing "There's a Meetin' Here Tonight," and from then on the evening flew. Two hours filled with folk ballads, comedy verses, jokes, ad libs, and loud sounds of laughter and applause were enjoyed by all. The Limeliters closed the concert with an invitation for the Elmhurst students to join in making up their own verses for "Hey Li Lee Li Lee." After the program students were allowed to meet the Limeliters and talk with them over some coffee.

Each spring our school sponsors the Elmhurst Intercollegiate Invitational track meet. As usual participants in the meet came from many of the midwest colleges, and were welcomed by the E.I.I. Queen and her court. A variety of events including the high jump, broad jump, disc throw, shot put, hurdles, and the relay fill this active Saturday afternoon.

Students and their families enjoy a program planned for parent's week-

Parents begin their weekend on the college campus with registration in Lehman.

If parents want to know what their son or daughter is doing while away at school, it's a good idea for them to join in the parent's weekend activities. For one weekend each spring parents are invited to visit the Elmhurst campus for special events in their honor. Often parents stay on campus in the dormitories, and are always welcome to eat with students in Commons. They are also invited to join in the regular activities on campus, as well as those planned for them.

Looking east on campus, we see the Commons and Kranz Hall plus the start of a new S.U.

Beginnings of a new Student Union are evident here.

From the new S.U., we will have this view of chapel.

When spring comes students move outside. Some become ambitious and begin an annual room cleaning project, while others put their energy into spring sports such as tennis, bicycling, and hiking. Others prefer to leisurely enjoy the fresh air and sunshine with their friends. Which ever you prefer it is available, plus many special events that spring always brings such as the E.I.I. track meet and the Junior Prom. However, it is also at this time that students seem to forget their books and begin to cut classes more often, and this is not profitable for May exams.

Spring weather also means spring house cleaning so the girls at Lehman Hall put a shine on the windows.

Spring Turns Fancy to Outdoor Activities

E Club members gather behind Neibuhr Hall for a car wash in the welcome spring air.

Formal attire and use of the M & M Club make the spring Prom a special event of the year.

Spring time is Prom time at Elmhurst. This year the junior class sponsored the Prom on the first Friday evening in May. Seniors were the special guests at the M & M Club of the Merchandise Mart in downtown Chicago. The evenings festivities were highlighted by the crowning of the Prom Queen, Barb Mowchan, by her predecessor, Karen Benson, senior.

Honors are Given to Future Executives

The administration and faculty join students at the dinner for the newly formed business honor society.

President Robert Stanger displays the plans of the new S.U. building, begun in spring.

Much of the time this past year of President Stanger and the Board of Directors was spent in making building plans for the next several years. Special attention in the '62-'63 school year was given to the new Student Union which was begun in the spring. The new building is to serve as a student center, cafeteria, and as offices for student government and publications. A great part of the original funds for the building have come from a United States government loan, while other funds have come as donations from interested corporations.

Representative from Automotive Electirc presents Dr. Stanger with a gift donation for the building fund.

Commencement Comes But Once a Year

One hundred and eighty-five graduated at the ninty-second Elmhurst College commencement. Bachelor degrees in Art, Science, Science in Nursing, and Science in Business Administration were confered by President Stanger. The address to the graduates was given by Chicago Sun-Times Editor, Milburn P. Akers. Following this, honorary degrees were awarded by Elmhurst College to Mr. Alben F. Bates, Doctor of Laws; and to The Reverend Mr. Hugo Leinberger, who received the Doctor of Divinity.

Directors of the College Plan for the Future

Dr. Robert C. Stanger, as the president of Elmhurst College, has completed his fifth successful year in forming the policy of the college and leading the administration in its many and varied activities. He is also a member of the Board of Directors which meets three times a year to decide the major functioning policies of the college. The members of the board are leaders in their respective communities and come from all over the country to give us their time and energy in developing, expanding, and managing the college. This year much of the board's planning was directed to the building of a new student union for Elmhurst College.

Mr. Robert Gentry serves E. C. as Assistant to the Dean of Students.

The Academic Heads of E. C.

As Dean of Students, Mr. William Denman, completes his second year at Elmhurst College.

Changes in school administration also brought Donald C. Kleckner as Dean of the College.

During her first year at Elmhurst, Miss Hensley is Assistant Dean of Students.

An addition to the staff, Mr. Trevor Pinch, handles the school finances as Controller.

This year Elmhurst has welcomed many new administrators to the campus. Among the new faces were Donald Kleckner, Robert Gentry, Margorie Hensley, and Trevor Pinch. These new members of the staff have worked with those who continued to administer Elmhurst to maintain the traditional intellectual, religious, and social aims of this liberal arts college, while involking the progressive element which is needed in any institution such as ours.

This year Mr. John Soma assumed the position of Business Manager.

As Director of Admissions, Mr. Gruenewald, introduces E. C. to newcomers.

Robert Schieler--New E. C. Chaplain

This year Elmhurst was without a Chaplain until February 1, at which time the Reverend Robert D. Schieler assumed the position. In his new capacity Mr. Schieler directed the college chapel programs, often speaking to the students himself. In addition he advised the campus religious organizations, taught one course in the Department of Religion, and was available for individual religious counseling for students. Mr. Schieler came to Elmhurst this year from Ripon, Wisconsin, where he served at the E. and R. church.

The Reverend Robert D. Schieler this year took on the duties of College Chaplain at Elmhurst.

Health Center Heals

This year the health center, located in the basement of Neibuhr Hall, was expanded in both equipment and staff. Along with regular school nurse, Miss Hazel Ober, students were served by three others including Miss Betty Barron, R.N., Doctor Samuel K. Lewis, and Doctor Reid Martin. Each had campus office hours for student convenience.

Good Planning in All Areas of College Life

Elmhurst student government was directed by the Student Union Cabinet, which was headed by President, Ed Hoefer. Each student was then represented by a senator to this central body. Special areas of concern were controlled by committees appointed by the cabinet for the school year. Three such committees were active on campus this year. Films, a special concert, and other events were planned and organized by the Social Life Committee, while the Athletic Committee handled all sports. In addition the Religious Life Committee controlled activities in its own area.

N.S.A. Links E.C. with Nation's Colleges

The National Student Association was formed to connect the plans and policies of the college students across the nation. Elmhurst sent their representatives to the national meetings to gather ideas voiced by other college students on foreign affairs, racial problems, and typical school problems. This year Ellen Rasche, Student Union N.S.A. Coordinator, headed the program on campus where she found a great deal of opposition to the N.S.A.

Choir Voices Ring Out

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Dr. T. Howard Krueger, is a choral group of mixed voices. They sing not only at college assemblies and chapel services, but also have concerts at many churches in the area. This year they visited the eastern states on their spring tour, performing at many E. & R. churches. A special division of the Choir known as the Bell Ringers also perform concerts throughout the year.

Men's Voices Unite in the Glee Club

The Men's Glee Club Quartet plus one join in on barbershop tunes and show tunes such as "Lida Rose."

Vocally talented students at Elmhurst may chose to join one of the four choral groups. The Men's Glee Club, just one of these groups, is composed of approximately twenty-five male voices. Their material throughout the year ranges from the strictly religious hymn to musical-comedy songs, all of which become a part of their regular concert. Performances are given for the E.C. student body, for local churches, and for churches throughout the country on spring tour. Those who wish a rememberance of the Glee Club may purchase a recording of their regular concert.

Musical Collaboration

This year for the first time the Elmhurst students who have a special interest in music education formed their own organization. Most of these students were not only involved in an academic program of music, but were also participants in one or several extra curricular music activities. Many of them have talents in both the vocal and instrumental fields as well as in directing groups of these types on campus.

This trombone player tunes up for a Tuesday night orchestra rehearsal.

Mr. William Lecklider again directed the Elmhurst College orchestra this year. The students were asked to practice once a week, and were later to prove their talents by performing for the college in special morning assemblies. The orchestra is composed of all students who are interested and willing to work with their musical talents, because it is an extra curricular activity. This is only the second year that this newly formed organization has been in existence, and it has definitely improved to a point to prove its worth. The orchestra is not only an asset to the appreciative audiences, but also has its rewards for those who give their time and talents in a manner which they enjoy.

At the weekly practice for orchestra members, Mr. Lecklider patiently directs the musicians.

Thespians Play the Part

Theater productions began this year at Homecoming with an original drama called "Pills From Paradise." The season continued with several of Edward Albee's plays such as "The American Dream," "The Sandbox," and "Fam and Yam." Some of these plus "Christ in the Concrete City" were used on the drama tour. Participation in theater activities of any nature—acting, back stage aid, scenery design, prop man, costumes, or lighting—were open to anyone who had an interest. Dramas were often directed by members of the speech department faculty such as Mr. Colburn or Mr. C. C. Arends. However, students who had a special academic interest in drama also had opportunity to direct E. C. plays.

Being in front of an audience for the first time is a frightening but rewarding experience for students.

The Theater Guild is a membership club for qualified thespians, and it is under the direction of Mr. Gary Colburn and Mr. C. C. Arends of the speech department and the president, Jack Dawson.

Campus, local, national, and international news are all an intricate part of the Elmhurst weekly newspaper, the Elm Bark. This year the staff was headed by editor, Dick Hemann, and Associate Editor, Denny Klass. Others responsible for informing the student body were News Editor, Pat Stock; Feature Editor, Bill Gruen; and Sports Editor, Steve Furman; with photos by Joe Johnson.

WRSE Rates FM Rating

It was a special year for the college radio station, WRSE. At the beginning of second semester the station was able to begin broadcasting on FM. This brought a definite enlargement and improvement in the WRSE programing. The schedule included music of all types, discussions and interviews with students and guests, and news.

The three principal speakers for the series were decided upon by the Lecture Series Committee headed by Dr. Royal J. Schmidt. The series was opened at the March 18 assembly by Dr. Chad Walsh of Beloit College whose address was titled "The Nightmare and the Mirror." The following Monday, Dr. John F. Hayward, a professor of theology at Meadville seminary talked on "Modern Painting and Modern Thinking." A final lecture was given on "Art and Theology" by Dr. Paul Tillich, a professor at Harvard University and at the University of Chicago.

Three Victories Make a Bright Season in Football

Coach Pete Langhorst gets a lift from the team.

For best results on the playing field, the team members often consult with the coach on the side lines.

Coach Pete Langhorst's last year of managing the football team at Elmhurst proved to be a very successful one. Early in September the team began their routine practice under the guidance of "Uncle Pete" and Coach Blum. The first test of strategy and technique came when Elmhurst was pitted against Northwestern College. This contest was followed by games against Navy Pier, Earlham, and Illinois College. Elmhurst's first victory of the season came in the game with Rose Poly Tech on October 20. Led by the team co-captains, Elmhurst stomped over the opposing team by a score of 27 to 6. This first victory was followed close on the heels by another win against St. Procopius College during the Homecoming weekend. The game was fought to a close end—the final score Elmhurst 7; St. Procopius 6. The next week brought yet another victory for the Blue Jays. In the game against Concordia College the Elmhurst eleven scored three touchdowns to lead the team to a 18 to 13 victory.

This pass appears to be ending in the wrong hands as players try to intercept.

Action like this was nothing unusual on the Elmhurst field this year as the Jays work for another victory.

It's a happy day for senior, Willie Anderson.

Loyal Elmhurst students join the cheerleaders in supporting the Blue Jay team for another game.

Elmhurst College's general enthusiasm toward the football team's victories was mirrored in the crowded bleachers at each home game. Away games, though not as well attended, were preceded by a pep rally and the team sendoff. Home game victories were followed by car cavalcades through the streets of the town complete with horn-blowing and cheering. Each win brought the victory bell into view together with the campus school spirit. The Blue Jays Homecoming victory over St. Procopius was rewarded by a school holiday on the following Monday. Amid these demonstrations of victory the Elmhurst team chalked-up a 1962 record of three consecutive wins as compared to the single win of the 1961 football season.

It's Saturday afternoon and the stands are filled by eager fans enjoying an Elmhurst home football game.

Long Distance Runners Compete

Elmhurst man, Tom Riess, leads the competition in hurtles race run on his home track.

A cross country team was formed on campus again this year for the first time since 1960. The only returning runners were Don Sinclair and Bob Mills. Others who joined the two veterans were Art Rock, Mike Shewchuk, Don Stahlhut, Leroy Griffin, Cliff Pensyl, and Jim Harsh. Meets for the fall season were scheduled with the University of Illinois at Navy Pier, University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, Whitewater, and Illinois Institute of Technology. Unfortunately, the E.C. harriers had to bow to these opponents, although it sometimes was only a matter of a few points. This year the cross country men had to face the problem of no home course. The old course had been removed and replaced by parking lots, so meets were always scheduled away. However, if there is a continued interest in the sport a new course will be planned.

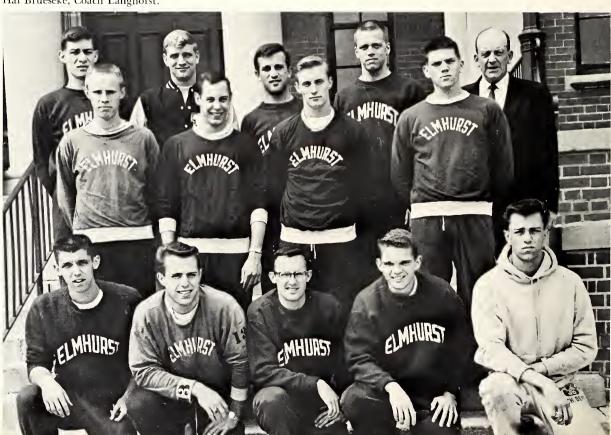

Once Around the Track

Trackmen at Elmhurst start practice early in the year with trial runs around the circle drive when the track is still too wet. When the season officially opened in March the E.C. cindermen were ready to run. This year the athletic department was able to buy several pieces of new equipment for the team such as a fibreglass vaulting pole and hurdles, thus the trackmen were well prepared. Throughout the spring season meets were held with the individual colleges in the area, however the climax of the track season at Elmhurst is always the E.I.I. meet where many schools represent a greater challenge.

Traveling To Victory

The Elmhurst College basketball team ended their '62-'63 season with a 7 and 13 record. The Jays beat Chicago Teachers, Principia, Illinois Institute of Technology, and Rockford. The record was not one of the best but, the season will long be remembered. Some of the highlights were: Bruce Murdock's thirty foot shot with three seconds left in overtime to give the team a one point victory over North Park; the miraculous comeback victory led by Moe Dobrowski in his final game at Lake Forest when the flock was down by sixteen points in the second half; and the 106 point scoring spree against Rockford College.

We hope that basketball player, Bill Sir, will be able to repeat this performance during practice at the game.

The team uses the college gym for their practice, although the home games are all played at York High.

In this game against Concordia, Lee Yunker makes a good shot for the Elmhurst Jays.

For this season top honors went to Phil Bodenstab, who led in scoring with a 14.2 average; Tom Riess, who was the leading rebounder with 198; and Ken Spiroff, who led in free throws making 29 out of 42 attempts for a percentage of 69. Together the team had some good games with an exciting double overtime victory against IIT and a stand out performance by Lee Yunker in his last game at Principia. The outlook for next year is good although the Jays will be without the services of two of their great players—Moe Dobrowski and Lee Yunker.

TENNIS TEAM: Jim Harsh, Mike Fleming, Bill Sir.

This Game is a Racket Golf is a Hard Course

The Elmhurst College tennis team under the direction of coach, Mr. C. C. Arends, was small but hard working. They started practice early in the season on the Wilder Park courts. Netmen, however, are looking forward to next year when the college will have their own courts. Tennis matches this year against local schools gave the Jays a successful record for the season with a total of seven wins and only three loses.

Golfers at Elmhurst get an early start with their practice by using Irion Hall Assembly as a substitute for a grass course. This proved to be a profitable program, for the team was able to end the season with a record of nine wins, nine loses, and one tie. The team was directed by Coach Owens and captain, Ned Shevelson, who was later voted the team's most valuable player with a putting average of 31.5.

E.C. Eagles on Ice

The Eagles, Elmhurst's hockey team, were led this year by Coach Rich Jungfer. Since the sport is relatively new to the campus, there was often a problem in recruiting enough players who were willing to practice as often as necessary. Thus, the season did not end with a successful record, but improvement was seen.

Meeting such teams as St. Procopius, Northwestern University's B team, Northern Illinois, and Wheaton, the Eagles had a rough schedule. They opened the season with a game against Wheaton, but recorded an 8-3 lose. Steady improvement was apparent in the following games played at the Y.M.C.A., and the pucksters were able to come out with a smashing victory over opponents from St. Procopius with a score of twelve to four.

HOCKEY TEAM: Ron Eppert, Bill Lamb, Don Eppert, Thomas Penney, Larry Clayton, Paul Froeshner, Al Paul, Ed Galapeaux, Rich Jungfer, John Moyers.

A home game played by the Jay's baseball team becomes an addition to their successful record for the season with ten wins and seven loses.

Hit and Run is a Good Motto for a Batter

Baseball players at Elmhurst had a very successful season in 1963. In tournament play the Jays won two and lost two, and the season's record was even more appealing with ten victories over only seven loses. The first victory of the season was against Illinois Institute of Technology which involved two wins. The first game ended with an eleven to six score, and the second game finished thirteen to five, which was made possible by the outstanding performances of David Bowers, Dennis Peterson, and Steve Grande. Other runs were brought in by top players Paul Litzsinger, Danny Mell, and Clifford Pensyl, while defensively pitcher, Ralph Cooper, was able to strike out as many as seven of his opponents in one game.

E.C. Base Runners

Spring is here! The uniforms are clean! And the E.C. baseball team is ready to go! Being the major sport of the season, baseball receives the greatest support of the college fans. This year that support was well deserved by the team and by many of the individual players who had an outstanding record for the season. Steve Grande, voted the most valuable player of the year, had a .293 average, led the team in R.B.I.'s with 13, and led the team in total bases with 24. His teammate, Dennis Peterson, held the season's lead in batting with the average of .395.

Under the leadership of officers James Leamon, President: Thomas Riess, Vice-President; William Anderson, Corresponding Secretary; Bruce Murdock, Recording Secretary; and Bob Rotgers, Treasurer; and sponsors "Pete" Langhorst and "Gus" Hylton, the "E" Club had a successful year in serving the campus. The planned social and athletic activities for the entire college, such as the Kick-off Dance and the "E" Club-Faculty basketball game. This past year they were also instrumental in securing a date for the first athletic convocation in which the entire student body honored Elmhurst's varsity athletes. The club closed their activities for the year with the annual spring banquet. At this time special honors were given to "Pete" Langhorst, who has served his last year as head football coach and sponsor of "E" Club at E. C.

Uncle "Pete" Langhorst Retires as Coach

Although Uncle "Pete" Langhorst is retiring from his position as head football coach, he will remain at Elmhurst and maintain his duties with the cross country and track teams. His retirement did, however, bring special recognition from the E Club at their spring banquet. These are the men who knew him best through working with him continually in sports. However, it was not only the athletes who knew and liked "Pete," for everyone on campus this past year had their attention drawn to him at football victory celebrations. All of the E.C. students were proud of Coach Langhorst's record for his last year, and showed it with a seranade at his home after the first big victory.

Wrestlers Have Successful Season

WRESTLING TEAM: Bob Reineke, Pete Menconi, Dennis Bilen, Doug Rosene, Jim Leamon, Andy Ludanyi.

No basketball or football game would be complete without the fans and the cheerleaders that direct their spirit. This year the Elmhurst cheerleaders did a good job supporting their team at both home and away games. They not only led the cheering of the fans well, but also looked especially good in their new uniforms, which were purchased by the athletic department. The squad this year was under the direction of fourth year cheerleader, Captain Linda Moore, and also their Advisor, Sue Davies.

CHEERLEADERS: Standing: Karen Koehler, Joyce Carlson, Barb Mowchan, Linda Moore. Front Row: Karen Benson, Kathy Kratzer, Keiko Tajii, Gail Humphreys.

In order to be at their best for games, the cheerleaders practiced several times a week under the direction of their advisor. However, cheerleaders did not center all of their attention on the games, but also organized pep rallies and team send-off rallies for away games throughout the year. They must also be given credit for arousing the Elmhurst school spirit and making the fans realize the importance of their attendance at the games. Next year the squad will have an even more difficult job, for they will be losing two members, Linda Moore and Karen Benson.

Whether you're a freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior at Elmhurst, you always find friends and classmates at every level. Dormitories are organized so that students will live and work with members of all classes each year.

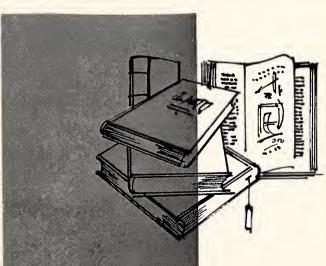

Class Loyalty Provides Elmhurst With Both Organization and Spirit

Yet there always remains a class loyalty which is held together by individual class governments and class projects. Freshmen readily recognize classmates in the fall by their traditional blue and white beanies, while sophomores and upper classmen have become well acquainted in past years at Elmhurst.

New Frosh Class - '66

With beanies and "E" Books in hand, following a week of formal orientation to the Elmhurst fellowship, the freshmen class quickly and completely became part of the campus life. The first all class project took place on the Saturday preceding Homecoming. At this time the freshmen class participated in an all campus clean-up campaign in order to ready the campus grounds for the busy weekend. Beanies identified the freshmen until Homecoming; then the class challenged the sophomores in half-time contests. By removing their beanies they became an intergral part of Elmhurst.

These happy members of the class of 1963 have been looking forward to this graduation for a long time.

Seniors Make Their Last Year a Good Year

After spending four years with the same class-mates, seniors have acquired a class spirit that always makes for a good year. This past year the seniors were led by class President, Jim Baur, Vice-president, Dick Wohlschlaeger, Secretary, Joan Yokel, and Treasurer, Judy Gronemeyer. The seniors were also guided by their class sponsor, Dr. Rudolph Schade. Business and plans of the seniors were handled at class meetings called whenever necessary by the President. Most important and dominating were plans for graduation, which included ordering announcements and purchasing a class gift for the college.

Class spirit got an early start this year with a senior gathering at Rex's restaurant in the fall. However, greatest festivities took place during senior week when final exams were over, and seniors worries were over. The week included a day at the sand dunes, a 6:00 A.M. baseball game, an evening campfire-songfest, and a farewell party at Koenig's. As the week came to a close, the seniors were busy with graduation plans. Saturday morning the seniors gathered in the chapel for graduation practice. Thus, the following day, June 2, all ended for the well prepared students with commencement.

Acknowledgements

Special thanks must be given to those who aided in the publication of this book. We are especially grateful for the assistance of Mr. Edwin Hackleman, who is the representative from our publishers, Foote and Davies, and to Mr. Bill Snell of the S. K. Smith cover company. Photographer Ray Cowan of Koehne Studios has not only done all of our senior portraits, but has also helped us with special pictures throughout the year. The Elms has also received pictures from the admissions office and from the Elmhurst Press for which we are appreciative. Division pages are the product of professional artist Ralph VanDyke. However, students have done most of the work, and special thanks must be given to Bob Hein who has served as the business manager, photographer and photo editor.
